HOOKWORM SUSPECTS UP FOR EXAMINATION

MUCH INTEREST IS BEING SHOWN IN ERADICATION
OF THE DISEASE

Dr. Frazer Orr of the Rockefeller Campaign for the Eradication of Hookworms in the South who has been in the city for the past few weeks in interest of this work stated to a reporter this morning that they were very much pleased with the cooperation received from the local physicians and the citizens of this country. He stated that the suspects found in the city schools were answering readily to the warnings issued by the commission and were coming up for microscopic examinations frequently.

During the past week and a half 73 hookworm suspects have been before the physicians for a microscopic diagnosis of their case. Of the seventy three to call there were 67 school children, 59 of whom were declared sufferers from the hookworm disease. The remaining few showed symptoms at first but under the microscopic examination made they proved not to be infected.

Dr. Orr has gone to Gordon where he will be in conference with the local physicians there. He will distribute the necessary literature there and then will go to Lucy and several other small places in that vicinity in interest of the work.

Dr. Perry in the Cottonwood vicinity where he has been making a campaign among the town people and in the rural districts, holding conferences with the physicians and getting a general interest stirred up.

Dr. Orr is of the opinion that with the present interest that is manifested in the eradication of hookworms the dreaded disease will soon be completely wiped out in this section.

VICTOR BERGER DEFEATED

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 20.—Victor L. Berger, alderman-at-large and social democrat congressman elect, yesterday was defeated by the socialist contingent in the city council, when he opposed the passage of a measure which the city attorney had declared unconstitutional. The measure was one to allow washerwomen to use city water free of charge. The socialist city attorney had declared the measure unconstitutional, but the socialists had wanted to pass it anyway, and did so, despite the objections of Berger.

The council adopted seventeen resolutions asking for the passage by the legislature of that number of special Milwaukee bills, allowing the city to engage in various enterprises at present barred by law.

The socialists, among other requests, wants the authority to erect municipal hospitals, ice plants, packing houses, to conduct any public utility, and in general to have complete home rule granted Milwaukee, instead of the city being forced to ask legislature approval of every innovation proposed.

B. F. Ivey, of Webb, was in the city today and subscribed for the Daily Eagle.

TOMORROW AT NOON THE CONTEST CLOSES

BIG VOTING TODAY, BUT TOMORROW MORNING WILL BE THE RUSH

Tomorrow at noon will be the hour for the contest to close. No votes will be received after that time, and a few minutes later the result of the contest will be known. Voting was lively today, although thousands of votes are held back for the last day. The Dothan Public Library and the City Schools turned in a great number of votes today and a sprinkling was put in for the Elks.

What work is done this afternoon and tomorrow morning will be all. There is yet time to create several hundred thousand votes.

AT THE GRAMMAR SCHOOL

The Christmas Exercises for the city schools, will be held at the Grammar School at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Mothers of the school children are urged to be present.

POISONED WHISKEY KILLS TWO PROMINENT MEN

Birmingham, Dec. 20.—Just before going to dinner at the dining house of Mrs. Joyce on Guy Avenue, a short distance from the county jail, Guy R. Coleman one of the most prominent fraternal society men in Birmingham and Steve Strickland, employed in the Tax Collector's office, took a drink of whiskey from a bottle that had been sent through the mail to Mr. Coleman, and while at the dinner table both of them were stricken, Mr. Coleman dying almost instantly, and Mr. Strickland dying a little later at a local infirmary, to which place he had been rushed. Dr. Wilder, who attended the man, announced that the indications point to strychnine poisoning.

Coroner Brasher and other authorities were notified and an investigation is being made into the dastardly deed.

Guy Coleman came here several years ago from South Alabama and was employed in the office of Dunn & Lalland Brothers, contractors. He had been giving much of his time and effort recently to fraternal society affairs and was very prominent in Masonic and Knights of Pythias circles. He was District Deputy Grand Chancellor in the Birmingham district for the Knights of Pythias and during the last year he was responsible for the taking of no less than 150 members into the Knights of Pythias here.

Coleman and Strickland went into the dining room at the boarding house of Mrs. Elizabeth Joyce between 1 and 2 o'clock. Hardly had they begun to eat when both were seized with convulsions. Coleman exclaimed "My God, isn't this an awful way to die?"

CITY SCHOOLS HAD A BRILLIANT YEAR

WILL DISMISS TOMORROW
UNTIL JANUARY 1st FOR
XMAS HOLIDAYS

With the dismissing of the city schools tomorrow at noon for the Xmas holidays one of the most brilliant terms of school in Dothan according to the opinion of the superintendent will be brought to a close. The schools will be closed until January 1st when the new term will begin.

Prof. Brown is jubilant over the success that has crowned the cooperative efforts of the teachers for the past term and terms this year one of the best in the history of the Dothan City Schools. He states that the teachers have been cooperating in the work and that the pupils, catching the same spirit have grasped the opportunity and put in a good term's work. No disturbances or no unpleasantness, that often comes to mar the success of a scholastic year have been witnessed this year and everything pulled together and ran smoothly.

The school will close tomorrow at noon for the holidays and the majority of the teachers will leave for their homes to spend the holidays until the new year when the work will again be taken up.

At 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon the Christmas exercises under the direction of Miss Thomasine Cobb, director of music of the city schools, will be held in the auditorium of the grammar school building.

Everybody is invited to attend. (Continued on page eight)

Sounds Strange at This Time

It probably sounds cold, and clammy, and rasping, and oddly out of place to print such an article as we take from the Emporia (Kans.) Gazette below, which follows. We know that this isn't the season to use such talk, for it will do no good to the people of Alabama, who are bent on their booze, but they are having no upheaval in Kansas just now, so we might give the article due thought. It comes under the heading, "Some Facts about Kansas," and is as follows:

"During the past year forty-eight of the 105 Kansas counties, with a population of 430,274, did not send a single prisoner to the state penitentiary.
"Fifty-seven out of the 105 counties had not a single pauper.
"Eighty-seven of the 105 counties did not send a single insane patient to an institution.
"Kansas's death rate is the lowest in the world, seven and one-half in 1,000 persons.
"The state still boasts of the lowest per cent of illiteracy.
"Kansas bank deposits have increased from $70,000,000 to $190,000,000.
"All of this happened under ten years of prohibition.
"Not being compelled to use their money for taxes to support prisons, poor-houses and insane asylums, which are largely filled by victims of liquor, the people of Kansas are able to put their money in the banks, or to buy automobiles, and to use their taxes in building schoolhouses and improving health conditions.
"Prohibition has been a success in Kansas because this state has elected officials who enforce the law."
If prohibition has been a success in Kansas because the state has elected men to office who would see that the laws were enforced, it would be a success in Alabama if men held the offices who wanted the laws enforced.
We know that the blind tigers are flourishing, but they only flourish in communities where no one cares about turning them up, and where officers feel like that there isn't sufficient sentiment to cause convictions, and make but little effort to have cases made.
Here in this town, and in this county, the people haven't decided what they are going to do about it. Those who must have their whiskey are having such easy sailing in finding places where they can buy it, till they are fairly well satisfied. Those who want whiskey for the revenue think some relief should be had from the present arrangement, giving the county saloons or dispensary. Then there are those who must admit that it's here just the same, law or no law.
Everyone knows that the business of bootlegging wouldn't pay a dividend if they were properly taxed and made to cough a sufficient amount in the town's strong box.
It is said that there are some advocating a dispensary bill; it is also said that a strong fight will be put up for a bill that will put saloons in the county.
If the three big cities get a special bill through for themselves, then the representatives of those counties will see to it that the rest of the state remains reasonably dry, forcing the jug trade to their towns. That would force Dothan into hard fits. Those fits would be rather hard if we had a dispensary, that gave a third of the proceeds to the county, but the suffering could be borne.

There are some who want a bill slotted through, only giving to towns of a certain size the right to sell whiskey.
You can take your choice, or just wait patiently for a month, and have a choice thrust upon you, whether it be yours or not.
You at least ought to be considering what you are going to do about it.
Plant Them Now
During the year, nearly all of the shade trees in this town have either been dug up or damaged to where they are worth but little. Nearly everywhere the paving has been put down, trees have come up.
This leaves all on equal footing. We need trees. They help the general appearance of the city, and add much to the comfort of the homes.
Water oaks will grow here, but it takes them forever to get any size. Sycamore trees have proven a failure, and we have wasted a dozen years experimenting with them. The elm doesn't do well, so we have to fall back on the North Carolina poplar, the China, or the mulberry, and they are not satisfactory, but are thrifty trees, and are well adapted to this soil.
But here of late the idea of putting out fruit trees has gained favor, and hundreds of pecans have been planted out. We have many in town already, and some scattered over the county. They grow well here, and bear well, and make a good shade, too. The shade isn't so dense, but one can put up with the pecan, for the fruit will be coming along in a few years. The seedlings take their time about bearing, it is said, but there is no use in planting them when one can get the budded trees, that will bear much quicker. Many are planting them out for shade trees on the grass plot in front of the home, and in a few years many pecans will be produced here in town. This is the season to put them out. Those who haven't can get them within a week. They are from $1 to $1.50 a tree.
Why Not Pave It?
Troy street should be paved, and could be paved now cheaper than it could at any other time.
There are enough bricks in Dothan to pave it with, for it isn't more than twenty feet at one end and twenty-five or thirty at the other.
It is impossible to get everybody in the same notion. That has been tried hundreds of times, so there is no use in waiting till the property owners give consent to pave this street. The city council had as well go ahead and pass an ordinance, and pave the street, as the others have been paved.
It could easily be paved from Oates to St. Andrews street, just two blocks.
The government building will be finished first thing we know, and with the improvements that will be made about the grounds of this building, and with the pavement of the street coming up to it and stopping, will make it look like we stopped before we got through.
Then while we are about it, this street should be opened up from St. Andrews east to College street, giving an outlet that would be an improvement to every foot of property along the way.
This improvement should be done cheaply.

Start a Corn Club

There is much interest just now all over Alabama in corn growing. The better class of farmers are realizing that something must be done by the time that the boll weevil comes. He will be hitting us in places next year, in all probability. Then the farmer must find another way of making money.
There is no surer crop than corn. There is no better corn land in Alabama than this section of the state. We have good farmers, and if other prize winners make sixty and seventy bushels to the acre, we certainly ought to make that much, or more.
Commissioner Wilkinson would be pleased to give information to any one who might be interested in entering the corn growing contest.
It is hoped that the electric light plant will work well enough Saturday night to light the way for Santa Claus.

Timely Suggestions For Investors

There is a scarcity in houses to rent for from $12.50 to $15 a month. We have an average of ten applications a week for houses of this class. Eight hundred dollars invested in a lot 270 feet east front, two blocks from the new high school building and towards Main street will furnish five lots for houses, say to cost $1,000 each. On an investment of $1,160, one can have an income of $180 a year easily. This property is in a white section and will advance in value rapidly.
Take a look at a new six-room residence on South Appletree street on a two-thirds of an acre lot we are offering at $1,600. It's worth a fourth more.
West Main property is as cheap as it will ever be. If you contemplate owning a home on one of the best streets in Dothan, it would be well to investigate the homes we have for sale on this street.
With the improvements just completed on East Main street, property in that part of town is increasing in value. We have an elegant seven-room house, with all conveniences, almost new and on a lot 100 by 226 feet and 140 feet adjacent frontage for sale. The price is $5,000. It's worth $6,000.
We have for immediate sale 160 acres on public road half mile from city limits, well improved and naturally fine land. We can sell at $25 per acre if taken before Dec. 15.

ENTIRE ISLAND SWALLOWED BY EARTHQUAKE

New Orleans, La., Dec. 20.—A special to the Times-Democrat from Port Limon, Costa Rica, says that a small island off the coast of San Salvador disappeared last Thursday, following a series of earthquake shocks, and it is believed that seventeen families, or about thirty persons lost their lives.

The dispatch adds that San Salvador was repeatedly shaken by earthquakes last week and the series of Thursday night was especially severe.

"The people on the little island, Hopango, were observed giving signals of distress late Thursday afternoon," says the dispatch, "but it was out of the question at that hour, because of the excitable condition of the people of the Salvadoran shore to send them relief. The earth shocks continued until past midnight Thursday and Friday morning the island had entirely disappeared."

Where the Bricks Came From

A man was passing some building operations in West Spruce street a few days ago when a dozen bricks came sprawling down from somewhere between earth and sky, and scattered harmlessly on the sidewalk at his feet, says the Philadelphia Times.

Decidedly startled, realizing that he might have been badly hurt, the man gazed about him, and ejaculated toothily.

"Where under the sun did you come from?"

And out of the air above him, from the top of a ladder whence the bricks had fallen out of a young workman's hod, came the astonishing reply:

"From the north of Ireland, begging your pardon, sir."

A Girl's Troubles

"Woman's is a hard lot."

"How now?"

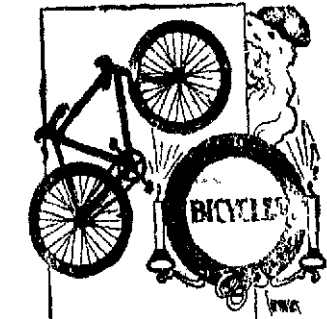

"I am trying so hard to dress mannishly, and then they brought out the hobble skirt."

The urchins now are told to go each day outside to play; an indication, as they know, of presents put away.

His Ruling Passion

The young man waited for the millionaire's reply, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"I don't blame you for wanting to marry my daughter," said the latter. "And how much do you suppose you and she can worry along on?"

The youth brightened up.

"I-I think," he cheerfully stammered, "that $200,000 well invested would produce a sufficient income."

The millionaire turned back to his papers.

"Very well," he said, "I will give you $100,000 providing you raise a similar amount."

And the young man went away sorrowing.

The Way of a Woman

They had been quarreling, and although hubby was willing to take the blame all upon himself, and smooth matters over peaceably, she was still snappy and indifferent, says Lippincott's.

"Come over here, Jessie. Aren't you curious to know what is in this package?"

"Oh, not very, I can stand the strain," she replied belligerently.

"Well, it's something for the one I love best in the world," he said coaxingly, trying to win a smile.

"Oh, is that so?" she sniffed.

"I suppose then it's those suspenders you said you needed."

Afraid of New LaFollette

Senator LaFollette, looking more fit and vigorous than since he has been a senator, told enquiring friends about the senate chamber today of the operation he underwent during the recess of congress. The operation had relieved him of a chronic internal trouble which for years had made him feel heavy, stupid and disinclined to activity, he said. Since recovering from the operation, he says, he has been in fine fettle, and believes he will be able now to accomplish something worth while.

Senator Crane threw up his hands when a friend confided to him what LaFollette had said. "Good Lord," he exclaimed. "If LaFollette was sick all the time he was kicking up those rumpuses up the senate the past three years, what are we going to expect now that he is well?"

The Hat.

Adown the busy street she swept
With graceful swing,
She wore the soft of hat ye kept
The ding-a-ling.
The sort of hat that hid her hair
I'd seen before,
For all along the thoroughfare
Were many more
But still I had to stop and eye
That fearful lid
I stood agape as she went by,
And others did
The milliners are very wise,
Have winsome wiles,
But now and then they do devise
Some awful styles.

Fame By Degrees.

"I want to be known from the Atlantic to the Pacific."
"Well, why don't you start at Panama and work up?"

A Fine Start.

"And how did the young couple fare?"

"Excellently. The groom's mother donated 10,000 trading stamps and the bride's father gave them enough tobacco coupons to furnish their parlor."

His Little Task

"Very suspicious man they say."
"Very. Bought a dictionary last week and now he's counting the words to see if it contains as many as the publishers claim."

Quite So

"No baby talk among the 400, I suppose."
"Plenty of that language in use. Most poodles understand no other."

Small Elmer had fallen into a pond and a man had rescued him.

"I'm awful glad you pulled me out," said Elmer "for mamma would have fussed like everything if I had drowned."

Consolation for Ugly Girls
A piquant and interesting article appeared in a Chicago journal
making a plea for ugly girls.
The gift of personal beauty is unquestionably one of the highest prizes in a woman's life, but it is not all. The life of her counterpart, man, is so complex, his needs are so numerous, that in some situations he is led to appreciate a cobbler a good deal more than he does a rose.

Nor is female beauty an exact science figured out by measurements after the Venus de Medici of de Milo. Not only national, but individual standards differ. What is beautiful to a Chinese mandarin is ugly to the gilded youth of Gaelic or Celtic race. Every woman is beautiful to some man. No mother has ever found her child ugly. It all depends upon the glasses, and whether they are tinted by some fond fancy.

Imagination is such a potent factor in love that if a man admires
a tiny foot, its possessor absorbs, at once, from her extremities a gentle comeliness in the eyes of the admirer. Another man may become entangled in his admiration of an ugly woman's hair, or be fettered by the loveliness of her eyes.

There is always some physical feature which redeems her homiliness, and when this feature once attracts the member of the opposite sex forgets that her nose may be large, her complexion sallow or her ears clumsy. All of these disadvantages combined, and constituting positive ugliness, are lost in the admiration otherwise aroun-ed.

Ugly girls should remember

A Simple Safeguard For Mothers.
Mrs. D. Gilleson, 326 Ingles
Ave., Youngstown, Ohio, gains wisdom by experience. "My little girl had a severe cold and cougher almost continuously. My sister recommended Foley's Honey and Tar. The first dose I gave her relieved the inflammation in her throat and after using only one bottle her throat and lungs
were entirely free from inflammation. Since then I always keep a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar
in the house. Accept no substitutes. For sale by N. H. McCallum.

$100 Reward, $100.
The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one cured disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is croup. Halls Croup Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Croup being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Halls Croup Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surface of the system, thereby destroying the found base of the disease, and giving the patient relief by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

that they may fail to attract every one, but they may yet be beautiful in some man's eyes. If they cannot feel absolute confidence in this, they at once become pather-ic to men of generous mind, and exciting pity is always an effective way to win, for we all know that pity is akin to love.

A constant appeal to man's chivalry is sometimes more powerful and potent than all of the varied charms another woman may possess. Ugly girls, however, generally carry their consolation with them in a blessedness unconsciousness of their want of good looks.
Even the most homely will look at herself in a friendly mirror noting the effect of a color or a fashion.

If this is doubtful, stand on the corner of Court and Main any afternoon and watch nearly every passing woman, be she beautiful or as homely as traditional sin,
gaze in the windows of the shop
windows as she passes.

Most of them, when they see their reflection, display an expression of admiration in their eyes.

Men are very much alike. They will tie their cravat in front of the morning mirror with the consoling and comforting comment,
"not handsome, but devilish fac-inating."

The statement that ugly girls are left to run to waste as "unappreciated blessings," is not supported by evidence. It is safe to make the broad generalization that an ugly girl may receive fewer offers of marriage than a piquant beauty, but on the other hand it is nine times out of ten the case that when she does receive the offer it will be from the man who will make her a happy wife.

It is exceedingly doubtful whether a plurality of lovers is an unmixed advantage to any girl. One good lover, the man who, the one destined to guide her future, the one attracted to her through affinity, is forever enough.

We hope that the girls will go on with their hobble skirts and remarkable creations and grow prettier and prettier, just as we hope that the flowers will keep on blooming, but destiny is more than skin deep, it is determined by the force of character, the subtleties of temperament, the magic of opportunity, and by we know not what,
charm behind the veil.

There is always chance for the ugly girl.—Commercial Appeal.

When To Lay Down Fours.
"It was very simple," said the exprofessional. "Sam Rollins was the man who did it, and he was, as I said, the most skillful dealer I ever knew. He was playing one night with a miner in Deadwood and had pushed the game till there was a big pile of money on the table, and he was,
naturally enough, a big winner.
Then he decided to clean out his man on the next deal and gave him a four flush before the draw, while he took three kings for himself. What he had just noticed was the miner was getting suspicious, and he was prepared for a gun play, but he wanted to get all the other man's money first."

"Well, it went off right enough till the pot was pretty big, and then with a sudden motion of his left hand the miner pushed his whole pile forward. At the same moment Sam heard a click under the table, and without the slightest hesitation he threw his four kings on the table face down and quit the game. He was a fighter, all right enough, but the other fellow had the drop on him."—

DOTHAN'S GROWTH

From an awkward country town of 3,275 people ten years ago to a progressive city of 7,016, is the remarkable growth of Dothan, the metropolis of Houston, the state's baby county. Dothan is less than twenty-five years old. Prior to the establishment of Dothan proper, a spot which marked its site and in the place was known as a "Flat Head" near which now stands a large brick building facilities, constantly it is growing affords a spacious natatorium as one of the features of the building which is very popular in the summer season.

Dothan's future, like many of the other smaller cities of Alabama, sparkles with brilliancy. It is situated in the heart of the Wiregrass—indeed it is known as the Hub of the Wiregrass. For fifty miles each way about the young city it is surrounded by rich agricultural districts where anything from a sweet potato to a cantaloupe, may be grown every year—the Wiregrass boasts that it has never known a real crop failure. Cotton, corn, peanuts, hay, and practically every kind of garden truck may be grown in abundance. There is no town near Dothan which saps its trade or in any way hampers its progress. They are all growing, but Dothan has the advantage in location and railroad facilities, consequently it is growing faster than its neighbors.

The city—it is safe to call it a city, as its ordinances speak of the "City of Dothan"—we believe—has three railroads, two large school buildings, and another nearing completion. A $100,000 government building, according to the Dothan papers, may be finished next year some time, as it has been under course of construction for some months. The principal business streets of the city have this year been paved, while the sidewalks of the residence portion are likewise being improved. Many other improvements in all parts of the city are under way; new business houses, new homes are being built at all seasons of the year.

Dothan is leaping forward at a pace that is the pride of the whole state, and she is now just beginning to grow, we need not be amazed at another record-breaking increase in population ten years hence.—Montgomery Advertiser.

Prof. J. A. Baxley, of Greensboro, will arrive in the city tomorrow to visit relatives.

ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF COUNTERFEITING

Huntsville, Ala., Dec. 20.—Thomas Clark, a Lawrence county farmer, was brought to Huntsville today on a charge of passing counterfeit money in Tusculum and other nearby towns. He was found with several spurious five dollar bills in his pockets. Commissioner Greenleaf committed Clark to jail to await the action of the Federal grand jury and his bond was fixed at $1,500.

Rob Howell arrived last night from Gainesville, Ga., where he has been attending the Riverside Military Academy, to spend the holidays at home.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional medicine. Deafness is caused by the inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or the perfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; and even out of the ear are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness cured by Dr. J. C. Cheney's Catarrh Cure. Sold by Druggists. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

LUMBER MILL BURNS

Eufaula, Ala., Dec. 20.—Woolridge Brothers' big lumber mill, including saw mill, planing mill, grist mill and dry kiln, on the river, ten miles above Eufaula, was destroyed by fire Monday night. The loss is $4,000. The fire is supposed to have been of incendiary origin. The Woolridge Brothers are also farmers on a very large scale.

CHILD BADLY INJURED

Eufaula, Ala., Dec. 20.—Robert, the 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Folsom, was seriously burned today by a large firecracker exploding in his hand, while he was shooting fireworks in the street. The flesh was torn from the arm to the shoulder and the arm may have to be amputated.
